DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-6 are present or examination.

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7, respectively, of U.S. Patent No. 6,728,904 (Kanekawa et al).

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the term "circuit" could perform any necessary programmable functions and/or processing tasks to do the checking step as claimed. Additionally, the "processor" as recited in the above patent could have been similarly programmed to become any circuit structure, so also to do any checking functions and/or specific jobs, without much undue hardship or extensive modifications to its processor circuitry/core as long as it is capable of doing the checking functions as claimed. Furthermore, it is well-known in this art that any processor contain many circuitries that can be considered as a specialized "circuit" capable of doing checking functions as recited by the claim 1 of this instant application. Therefore, the term "circuit" is not given any patentable weight over the term "processor" as already recited in the patent.

3. Other claimed features as recited claims 2-6 are found corresponding or at least equivalently to those recited in patent's claims 2-5 and 7 accordingly.

4. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Viet Q Nguyen whose telephone number is (571) 272-1788. The examiner can normally be reached on 7am-6pm (EST).
